

I am opposed to any further erosion of the principle that the airwaves are a public trust that needs to be protected from being commandeered by the rich and/or powerful. It's a process that has already gone too far in the elimination of the restriction on how many media outlets in one region that can be owned by a single entity.

Bruce J. Hyatt